ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION

Irvine
Explore • Respect • Protect Nature

Over the past 15 years, Irvine has grown from 13,000 VISITORS to be Maryland's 28th most popular tourist attraction with 70,000 VISITORS a year.

To diversify habitats on our property, we planted 7,000 trees and numerous native plant gardens, and completed a 16.8-acre meadow restoration, making us a model for environmental best practices in land management.

Irvine's growing Nature Preschool has become a national model. At our 2014 Nature Preschool Conference, attendees came from 12 states and as far away as California.

Maryland is the only state with an Environmental Literacy requirement, and Irvine is a key provider and resource for teachers and students seeking to meet and exceed the goal. Last year our education team led 29 professional development courses and seminars reaching 559 educators who are now taking their students outside for science-aligned nature-based learning.

Last year, volunteers donated 4,280 HOURS of their time, SAVING IRVINE almost $100,000. We are truly grateful for this donated time and hard work.

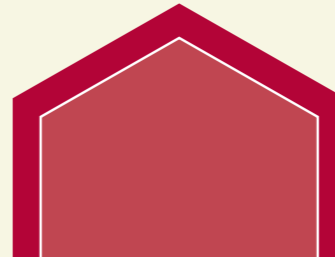

As recently as 2008, 90% of Irvine's operating budget came only from philanthropy. While the overall dollar amount of donations has increased, our program income has significantly increased also and now accounts for 50% of a more diversified annual budget.

When it comes to the environment, Irvine leads by example. We have geothermal heating and air conditioning, a green roof, a solar panel and a porous-paved parking lot.

For more than 20 years, Irvine has provided environmental education opportunities for teachers and over 23,000 underserved Baltimore City students. Last year 2,800 students took part in our fun, interactive Nature in the Classroom sessions.

Irvine started in a tiny barn using 25 acres and is now housed debt free in a beautiful 17,200-square-foot GREEN BUILDING ON 116 acres.

Our efforts to combat nature deficit disorder start early and reach multiple audiences from varied backgrounds. Our outreach program to homeless preschoolers and our professional development for preschool teachers in Baltimore City brings nature into diverse classrooms.

We were an early adopter of the need for native plants. Since 1992, Irvine has enlisted 120 experts to present at our Native Plant Seminar which educates more than 100 people annually.

Our environmental education efforts spread beyond our campus. Each week, our website has 1,200 visitors and our Tuesday WYPR program receives 70,000 listeners.

More than 35% of our support comes from our corporate partners via program grants, sponsorships and volunteer opportunities. Last year corporate volunteers contributed 2,232 hours to help clear invasives, paint classrooms and enhance the Outdoor Classroom.

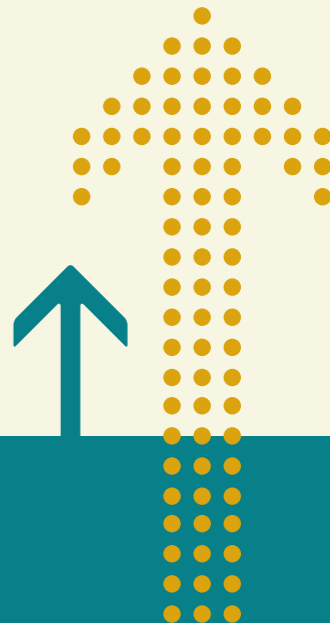

We're bursting at the seams – Irvine's field trip attendance grew 80% last year, and program attendance jumped 39%.

Irvine regularly partners with local colleges and universities to provide career and leadership opportunities for interns and work-study students.

Project Clean Stream, which was borne from Irvine's early efforts, has bloomed into a watershed-wide event removing 425 tons of trash last year.
